Session	Info
Wellbeing project	We offer a student-led project that embeds wellbeing and self discovery into each session. The project involves working together (with our Wellbeing lead) on a topic or interest chosen by the student. Discussions and tasks will encourage an exploration of physical, emotional and social wellbeing both unique to the young person and those in the wider community. The first session begins with an informal chat between the staff member, a parent or guardian and the young person. This can happen over the phone (on speaker), through video conferencing or via Gecko instant chat. This session acts as a gentle introduction and an opportunity to discuss project ideas with the support of family. After the first session, all further sessions are 1:1.
Science / ICT Project	We offer a student-led project on the topics of Science, ICT or Computer science. This involves a discussion of ideas and the student choosing an area to focus on. A project could be anything; a coding project and developing a simple game, learning about organisms or an experimental science project for example. This initial discussion of ideas starts in the first session with a parent or guardian, the young person and teacher on the phone (on speaker), through video conferencing or via Gecko instant chat. This allows the student to share their interests with or through the support of those who know them best. After the first session, all further sessions are 1:1.
Student - led Project	We offer a student-led project on an interest chosen by the student. This involves a discussion of ideas and the student choosing an area to focus on. Gradually through working on this topic together, an idea for a project will emerge and the sessions will focus on this. A project could be anything; learning about personality types and making a portfolio on these, discussing Dr Who and making a script, discussing prehistoric life and making a timeline, for example. This initial discussion of ideas starts in the first session with a parent or guardian, the young person and teacher on the phone (on speaker), through video conferencing or via Gecko instant chat. This allows the student to share their interests with or through the support of those who know them best. After the first session, all further sessions are 1:1.
